

Normal and Balanced Results

Last Modified on 04/19/2018 10:53 am PDT

Normal exam results uses different colored bars to show how active the muscles in each measured site are.

Balanced exam results use blue bars to show a comparison between the left and right sides at each measured site.

You can easily change between the two by clicking the corresponding tab at the top of an open exam.

Click through the tabbed menu below to see samples of each type.

Normal Balanced Side-by-Side Comparison